CHAMPAGNE, A UNESCO WORLD HERITAGE SITE

COTEAUX, MAISONS & CAVES DE CHAMPAGNE
PATRIMOINE MONDIAL

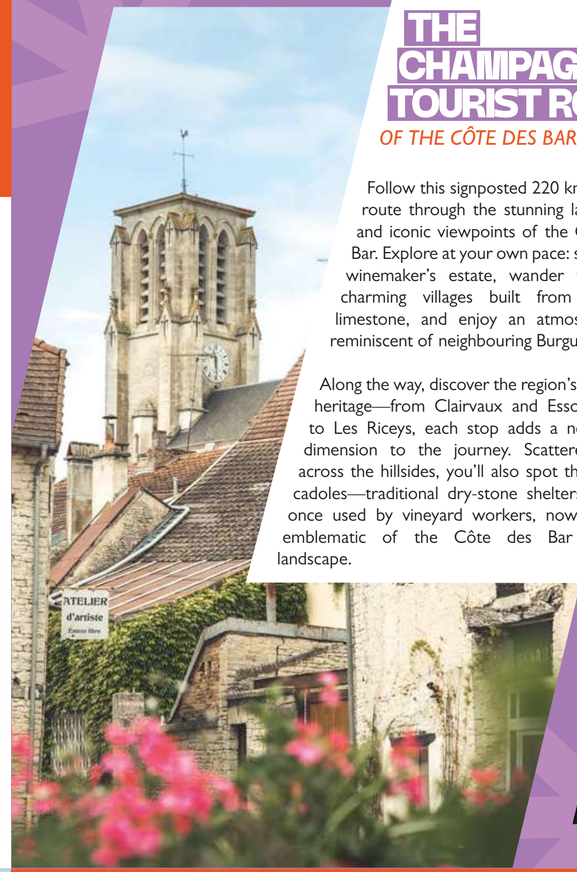

In July 2015, the Champagne Hillsides, Houses and Cellars were inscribed on the UNESCO World Heritage List as an evolving living cultural landscape. This international recognition celebrates the entire Champagne appellation area, along with the traditions, expertise, and practices that have shaped the region's vineyard landscape over the centuries. Protecting these landscapes, their scenic views, and their winemaking traditions means preserving a rural way of life that is recognized for its outstanding universal value.

VISIT A CELLAR ON SUNDAYS AND PUBLIC HOLIDAYS

Sundays are best planned ahead. In the Champagne vineyards, visits are not always available on a walk-in basis, and it can be difficult to arrive without prior notice. To make things easier, we have compiled a list of cellars open on Sundays and public holidays, along with practical information and booking options.

THE CHAMPAGNE TOURIST ROUTE

OF THE CÔTE DES BAR

Follow this signposted 220 km (137 mi) route through the stunning landscapes and iconic viewpoints of the Côte des Bar. Explore at your own pace: stop by a winemaker's estate, wander through charming villages built from white limestone, and enjoy an atmosphere reminiscent of neighbouring Burgundy.

Along the way, discover the region's rich heritage—from Clairvaux and Essoyes to Les Riceys, each stop adds a new dimension to the journey. Scattered across the hillsides, you'll also spot the cadoles—traditional dry-stone shelters once used by vineyard workers, now emblematic of the Côte des Bar landscape.

RIDE

THE WHITE TRAILS

The vineyard can also be explored by bike, through rolling landscapes, white gravel trails, and rewarding viewpoints. Climb the hillsides and enjoy sweeping views over southern Champagne. Here, every turn reveals a new perspective. Ride along the white gravel roads made famous by the Tour de France, follow the Raid Bulles gravel route, or tackle the mountain bike trails. Whether you're into gravel riding or MTB, the Côte des Bar offers an exceptional playground—and a unique way to experience the vineyard up close.

AUBE, IN SOUTHERN CHAMPAGNE

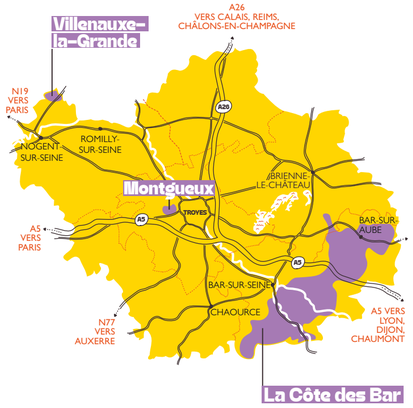

This part of Champagne is defined by its rolling landscapes, passionate winegrowers, and dedicated Champagne houses. With more than 8,000 hectares of vineyards under the Champagne AOC, spread mainly across three key areas—the Côte des Bar, Montgueux, and Villenauxe-la-Grande—the region accounts for nearly 23% of the Champagne appellation vineyard.

More than just a vineyard, it is a land of encounters. Visitors do more than taste Champagne—they discover a history shaped by the work of monks in the 12th century. Wander through picturesque villages and meet the men and women who preserve this heritage, recognised as a UNESCO World Heritage Site since 2015.

Alongside Champagne, the region is also home to two more confidential appellations: Coteaux Champenois, still wines produced in Champagne, and Rosé des Riceys, a unique rosé that reflects the distinctive expertise of the village of Les Riceys.

HOW TO EXPERIENCE CHAMPAGNE ?

There are countless ways to discover the vineyard. At your own pace:

- Guided tasting to discover the grape varieties, dosage levels, and blending techniques.
- Cellar tour to discover the secrets behind the Champagne-making process.
- Walk through the vineyards to discover the landscape.
- Food and Champagne pairing workshop to explore the full range of aromas and flavours.
- Picnic among the vineyards or a special moment with a winegrower.
- Experience the grape harvest and share in the excitement of this special season.
- Stay among the vineyards to extend the experience.
- Cycle through the hillsides to connect villages and scenic viewpoints.

HERE, WINE TOURISM IS AN EXPERIENCE TO BE LIVED, NOT JUST VISITED.
